

TRAVEL TO IMPERIAL WAR MUSEUM NORTH WITH METROLINK

Discover how war shapes lives with a great, free day out for all ages

The multi-award winning Imperial War Museum North is a great free day out for all ages, designed by world-renowned architect Daniel Libeskind to represent a globe shattered by conflict. It reveals how war shapes lives through powerful exhibitions, the Big Picture (a 360 degree light and sound show), tours, object handling sessions, and family activities all available daily. Visit the cafe, shop and viewing platform offering views over The Quays.

How do I get there?

Board the Eccles service from Manchester Piccadilly to Harbour City – the journey will take you through Salford Quays, the regenerated Docklands area. Travelling from Bury or Altrincham board any service and alight at Cornbrook interchange taking the Eccles service. Imperial War Museum North is a 15 minute walk across the quay from Harbour City stop.
